Alexis Heraclides: Biographical note

Alexis Heraclides (born in 1952, in Alexandria) is professor of International Relations and conflict analysis at the Department of Political Science and History of the Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences (Athens). Previously he served as senior counsellor for minorities and human rights at the Greek Foreign Ministry (1983-1997) and in that capacity participated in a number of intergovernmental conferences and meetings, notably in the context of the CSCE/OSCE, and also in the United Nations/General Assembly, the UN Commission on Human Rights, the European Community (European Political Cooperation) and the Council of Europe. He was also appointed as alternate expert of the UN Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities (UN Commission of Human Rights) (1990-1992).

He holds a diploma in political science from the Panteion School of Political Sciences, a M.Sc. in International Relations from the University of London (University College) and a Ph.D. in International Relations from the University of Kent.

His main publications cover intervention in separatist conflicts, secession and self-determination, ethnicity and nationalism, the CSCE/OSCE, images in Greek foreign policy and specific conflicts mainly from a conflict resolution perspective, such as Kosovo, Southern Sudan, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, the Cyprus question and the Greek-Turkish conflict. His more recent research is on humanitarian intervention in the long nineteenth century. The international citations to his works are over 2000.

Main Books

The Arab-Israeli Conflict: The Problèmatique of Peaceful Resolution (Athens: Papazissis, 1991) [in Greek].

The Cyprus Question: Conflict and Resolution (Athens: I. Sideris, 2002) [in Greek].

Irreconcilible Neighbours: Greece and Turkey (Athens: I. Sideris, 2007) [in Greek].

The Greek-Turkish Conflict in the Aegean: Imagined Enemies (Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, 2010).

Main papers

17. "Ethnonational and Separatist Conflict Settlement and the Case of Kosovo", in Thanos Veremis & Evangelos Kofos (eds), Kosovo: Avoiding Another Balkan War (Athens: ELIAMEP, 1998).

18. "Greek-Turkish Relations from Discord to Détente: A Preliminary Evaluation", The Review of International Affairs: Center for Eurasian Strategic Studies, 1, 2 (2002).

27. “‘What Will Become of us Without Barbarians?’ The Greek-Turkish Rivalry as an Identity-Based Conflict”, Southeast European and Black Sea Studies, 12, 1 (2012) [peer reviewed]

